About Us

Alnet Systems Inc., for nearly 10 years has engaged in developing digital video recording software for CCTV systems. The first line of products named VDR-S series has been installed on over 60,000 systems worldwide.

Many years of experience allows us to create reliable solutions that are also very functional. For over 5 years we have been developing systems designed for IP cameras.

Currently offered are hybrid systems named NetHybrid as well as strictly IP systems named NetStation, both are "open platform" types. NetHybrid and NetStation are systems for the most demanding customers who seek reliable and professional solutions.

Our engineers are constantly working on developing features to meet new market demands. Intensive development, focused on intelligent image analysis will soon bring us to a new era in video security systems.
